Sharon Irving has enjoyed a productive career as a singer/songwriter, producer, spoken word artist and social justice advocate. She was a Season 10 semi-finalist on NBC's America's Got Talent. She is a versatile vocalist, having performed contemporary Christian, gospel, R&B, hip hop and, most recently, jazz on trumpeter Marques Carroll's 2021 release, The Ancestor's Call, which led to a four day appearance with Carroll at Chicago's historic Jazz Showcase. Their collaboration on the song, The Aries Goddess (for Consuelo and the Fallen), includes a stunning music video.

Sharon has continued her foray into the jazz world with two appearances on the 2021 Art of Protest album produced by her dad, producer/arranger/pianist Robert Irving III for his Sonic Portraits Jazz label. Her collaboration on the tune, Street Smarts, places her in performance with Miles Davis who has a cameo appearance courtesy of the Miles Davis Estate.

The father and daughter duo has teamed up to create this very special rendition of the Christmas classic, Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas. Sharon's jazz and gospel roots are obvious in her soulful and colorful performance. On piano, Robert Irving III revisits his gospel roots while sprinkling jazz spice throughout the piece. Together, their performance brings an intimacy and warmth to this holiday treasure.
